A SEMINAR BASED ON “VEDIC MATHEMATICS” UNDER THE DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS

20th January 2016

Prof. Supriya Salvee

Vedic Mathematics is the name given to the ancient system of Indian Mathematics which was rediscovered from the Vedas between 1911 and 1918 by Sri. Bharati Tirthaji (1884-1960). According to his research all of the mathematics is based on Sixteen Sutras, or word-formulae. For example, 'Vertically and Crosswise` is one of the Sutras. These formulae describe the way the mind naturally works and therefore are a great help in directing the student appropriate method of solution.

Perhaps the most striking feature of the Vedic system is its coherence. Instead of a hotch-potch of unrelated techniques the whole system is beautifully interrelated and unified: the general multiplication method, for example, is easily reversed to allow one-line divisions and the simple squaring method can be reversed to give one-line square roots. And these are all easily understood. This unifying quality is very satisfying, it makes mathematics easy and enjoyable and encourages innovation.

In the Vedic system 'difficult' problems or huge sums can often be solved immediately by the Vedic method. These striking and beautiful methods are just a part of a complete system of mathematics which is far more systematic than the modern 'system'. Vedic Mathematics manifests the coherent and unified structure of mathematics and the methods are complementary, direct and easy.

Interest in the Vedic system is growing in education where mathematics teachers are looking for something better and finding the Vedic system is the answer. Research is being carried out in many areas including the effects of learning Vedic Maths on children; developing new, powerful but easy applications of the Vedic Sutras in geometry, calculus, computing etc.

Considering the importance of Vedic Mathematics in today's world and its application since traditional times the said workshop was organized. The Resource Person called for the same was Prof. Pankaj Deshmukh, who is a well-known academician in the Vedic Mathematics.

The students learned the following things from the seminar:

- 1) Calculations carried out mentally (though the methods can also be written down).
- 2) A flexible, mental system for mathematical formulae
- 3) Invention of their own methods as they are not limited to the one 'correct' method.

“HOW TO BECOME A SMART INVESTOR” A SEMINAR UNDER THE DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS

2nd February, 2016

Prof. In Charge

Prof. Supriya Salvee

In today's world of inflation, the savings and investment has been reducing because of increased consumption expenditure. And the investment options available are many, so comparison in terms of two factors i.e risk and return is quite uncertain. People want to choose one, out of many investment plan where they can maximize return and minimize the risk. So, for sensitizing the students about the same cause and for giving tips of becoming smart investor, Prof. Geeta Gangwani of L.D. Sonawane College was invited to explain the following points:

- 1) Risk and reward theory
- 2) Portfolio investments
- 3) Mutual funds scheme
- 4) Secured investment plan
- 5) Different investment avenues.

NAZ COURSE WORK ORGANISED BY SPORTS COMMITTEE

Prof. In Charge

Prof. Sharmila Karve

Prof. Vrushali Deshmukh

Naz India implemented a goal program, sponsored by Standard Chartered Bank community investment initiative, in 2006. It provides netball and life skills education to transform the lives of young underprivileged girls in India, on and off the court. It is a collaborative and multi-stakeholder initiative to build self-confidence and give adolescent girls a better life.

They conducted 7 day training program for the same at our college. Around 100 girls got training and received trainee certificates, out of which five girls of B.Com. were selected as re-trainers for training different students.

MOOT COURT COMPETITION

January - 2016

Prof. In Charge

Prof. Sonam Kotwani

In Moot Court competition students participate in preparing and arguing cases in front of judges. The case and sides are selected beforehand, and students are given a set amount of time to prepare for the eventual trial. A moot court competition simulates a court hearing (usually an appeal against a final decision), in which participants analyse a problem, research the relevant law, prepare written submissions, and present oral argument. They usually involve two grounds of appeal, argued by each side.

Outcome of the event/competition:

Moot Court competition provided students with the unique opportunity to strengthen their reasoning and persuasion skills while increasing their understanding of the Constitution and the judicial system. The event brought together many skills that are inherent in the goals of competition: the ability to think substantively about an issue, and then persuasively and respectfully converse with another regarding their position.
